Author Biographies

Agnaldo Garcia is an Associate Professor at Federal University of Espirito Santo in Vitoria, Espirito Santo State, Brazil. He also coordinates the Latin American Network for Interpersonal Relationship Research and the International Scientific Psychology Network (ISPN) and edits Interpersona: An International Journal on Personal Relationships. His research interests are personal relationships, friendship, social support, migration, and social network scientific cooperation in Latin American Psychology. Dr. Garcia has organized three Brazilian Conferences on International Relationship Research.

Christina A. Parker is a Lecturer at Ryerson University in Toronto and an Instructor for the Consortium for Peace Studies at the University of Calgary. Her research expertise is in curriculum and pedagogy, peacebuilding education, dialogue, conflict transformation, multiculturalism, and cultural identity. She may be contacted at christina.parker@ryerson.ca.

Alvany Maria dos Santos Santiago is an adjunct professor and research at Federal University of São Francisco Valley in Petrolina, Pernambuco State, Brazil. Her research areas are interpersonal relationships, human rights, people and organization with focus on careers. She coordinates the research Laboratory on Career and Competences Development and belongs to International Peace Research Association Council and to University of Wisconsin-Madison Alumni Association among others.

David E. Toohey is an Assistant Professor at Aichi University and a researcher at the Aichi University Institute for International Affairs in Nogaya, Japan. His research areas include environmental politics, immigration, and media. He has published a book entitled Borderlands: Media: Cinema and Literature as Opposition to the Oppression of Immigrants (2012) as well as journal articles in Asian Cultural Studies and Review of Policy Research.

Hakim Mohandas Amani Williams is currently an Assistant Professor of Africana Studies and Education at Gettysburg College, Pennsylvania. His research interests include post/colonial education, youth/school violence, structural violence, educational inequity, masculinities, and critical pedagogy.

Gregor Wolbring is an Associate Professor in Department of Community Health Sciences, Concentration of Community Rehabilitation and Disability Studies at University of Calgary. He is a Visiting Professor of Ability Expectation and Ableism Studies (Faculty of Medicine) at the American University of Sovereign Nations (AUSN), USA and a fellow at the Institute for Science, Policy and Society, University of Ottawa, Canada. He is an ability studies, disability studies and science and technology studies scholar. He was recently the editor of a special issue on disability studies and peace studies for Peace Studies Journal. 